

Contents

Book One

|                                                                                                       |    |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| To The City of Fire(If I forget you let my sleep dwindle)                                  | 3  |
| Admirals(He stares south on his column over anchors)                                       | 4  |
| The Ghost of Santo Domingo(What I remember I will tell)                                    | 5  |
| To Peace(When will you come The days are long the nights)                                  | 6  |
| Our American Way of Life(Smoking a cigarette in a classroom)                               | 7  |
| At Work(Day is gone light almost gone torch leaves)                                        | 8  |
| At School(Two boys are hurried into the office)                                            | 9  |
| Refugees(Every night she dreams of departure)                                              | 10 |
| Citizens(There is no need for concern the Ushan)                                           | 11 |
| In That Time(In that time there existed Sovereign States)                                  | 12 |
| The Shattering(I was determined never to marry)                                            | 13 |
| Leviathan(Leviathan many tentacles)                                                        | 15 |
| To the Tribunal(There was a machine that opened the earth)                                 | 16 |
| Blues(Come here baby wrap your arms around)                                                | 17 |
| Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl(Although it stands between the kidnappers)           | 18 |
| Where Blind Sorrow Is Taught To See(Rain shines black where the red-and-white-light-laced) | 20 |
| Democracy(Nothing hurts but the foot is insistent)                                         | 21 |
| Soldiers(Water they ask as she passes among them)                                          | 22 |
| Memorials(Walt Whitman I lay on the grass today)                                           | 23 |
| Migrations(The long migration is over We are)                                              | 24 |

Book Two

|                                                                                      |    |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| To The City of Fire(All this time I have never told you)                  | 27 |
| Admirals(Your Majesty We found today)                                     | 29 |
| The Ghost of Santo Domingo(I've set six stones in a row near the eastern) | 30 |
| To Peace(Peace I have feared you hated you scuffed dirt)                  | 31 |
| Our American Way of Life(Chapter Eight Going Shopping What is this)       | 32 |
| At Work(As she nods down into and up from sleep)                          | 33 |
| At School(It's the first hot afternoon upstairs)                          | 34 |
| Refugees(By the time the stars prick their faint patterns)                | 36 |
| Citizens(The Trees have no leaves A man on a stretcher)                   | 37 |
| In That Time(In that time before the Abolition)                           | 38 |
| The Shattering(Adam slept by the pasteboard wall)                         | 39 |
| Leviathan(Leviathan know that cotton river)                               | 41 |
| To the Tribunal(For seven days we were not allowed)                       | 42 |
| Blues(Lived here all my life Seen what you can do)                        | 43 |
| Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl(Dear Amy At last a moment I miss)   | 44 |
| Where Blind Sorrow Is Taught To See(Lips against lips The window is open) | 46 |
| Democracy(Where there was furnishing and canopy)                          | 47 |
| Soldiers(After the war I will go to the highlands)                        | 48 |
| Memorials(At the Mohegan Diner off Route Six)                             | 49 |
| Migrations(Far inland the earth under our feet)                           | 52 |

Book Three

|                                                                     |    |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| To The City of Fire(Here is soot Today it is all I have) | 55 |
| Admirals(October 1609 This land is)                      | 56 |

|                                                                                      |    |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| The Ghost of Santo Domingo(All day she rocks forward and back whispering) | 57 |
| To Peace(All day I search for you without success)                        | 58 |
| Our American Way of Life(Chapter Twelve In School What is this This)      | 59 |
| At Work(She ladles the grounds with a plastic measure)                    | 60 |
| At School(Excuse me the teacher says Where are you going)                 | 61 |
| Refugees(Before the dawn before the rain started)                         | 62 |
| Citizens(There is chilly dancing in Harlem tonight)                       | 63 |
| In That Time(In that time after the Great Silencing)                      | 64 |
| The Shattering(Wednesday January 25)                                      | 65 |
| Leviathan(Leviathan ubiquitous)                                           | 68 |
| To the Tribunal(I come from a village by the north border)                | 69 |
| Blues(Leaves fallin down Here come the cold)                              | 70 |
| Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl(Tonight I woke again afraid)        | 71 |
| Where Blind Sorrow Is Taught To See(It's Independence Day or by now)      | 72 |
| Democracy(They took the beggar by the elbows)                             | 73 |
| Soldiers(These five days and five nights there are no)                    | 74 |
| Memorials(The tarnished band of old men slouches)                         | 75 |
| Migrations(At the foot of the cobbled highway linking)                    | 77 |

Book Four

|                                                                                  |    |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| To The City of Fire(Where are you going Will you leave so quickly)    | 81 |
| Admirals(The people go naked men and women)                           | 82 |
| The Ghost of Santo Domingo(That the earth may shelter and sustain us) | 83 |
| To Peace(Why should you come to meet me your most)                    | 84 |
| Our American Way of Life(Chapter Fifteen Our Flag What is this)       | 85 |

|                                                                                                 |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| At Work(You so sleepy baby Who you been)                                             | 86  |
| At School(Merchant and Merchant Junior march)                                        | 87  |
| Refugees(Until half past eight Pin's daughter belongs)                               | 88  |
| Citizens(It is late when she walks from the mica chambers)                           | 89  |
| In That Time(In that time the people gathered at night)                              | 90  |
| The Shattering(We were six We met in the evening)                                    | 91  |
| Leviathan(Leviathan scarify and scour)                                               | 92  |
| To the Tribunal(At Léopoldville I stood with others)                                 | 93  |
| Blues(You tell me no trouble's on your tail)                                         | 95  |
| Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl(Dear Amy It has been a long time)              | 96  |
| Where Blind Sorrow Is Taught To See(Before you I walked with my hands in my pockets) | 98  |
| Democracy(You bought new clothes You thought it was finished)                        | 99  |
| Soldiers(Come my shirtless my hardly with us)                                        | 100 |
| Memorials(The cathedral floors and ceiling vaults)                                   | 101 |
| Migrations(I am wholly ruined Your Highness)                                         | 104 |

Book Five

|                                                                             |     |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| To The City of Fire(All along there have been places where I)    | 107 |
| Admirals(Your High Mightinesses I trust you received)            | 108 |
| The Ghost of Santo Domingo(They gave us broken crockery broken)  | 109 |
| To Peace(I have called you names I cannot repeat here)           | 110 |
| Our American Way of Life(Chapter Nineteen The People The People) | 111 |
| At Work(For where there are no hiding places rows)               | 112 |
| At School(In bright frayed coats and leaping the children)       | 113 |
| Refugees(At midnight the old year blows its cold breath)         | 114 |

|                                                                                                  |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Citizens(In the bars and private rooms of the city)                                   | 115 |
| In That Time(In that time the people presided over)                                   | 117 |
| The Shattering(The President and the Prime Minister)                                  | 118 |
| Leviathan(Leviathan the bullet bulwark)                                               | 120 |
| To the Tribunal(To protect ourselves we had knives and bamboo)                        | 121 |
| Blues(By this fire I still feel the wind)                                             | 122 |
| Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl(June 1867 Dear Amy)                             | 123 |
| Where Blind Sorrow Is Taught To See(Near where I lived there was a fenced schoolyard) | 124 |
| Democracy(This is the sowing time The harvest)                                        | 125 |
| Soldiers(In the mica chambers the princes sit)                                        | 126 |
| Memorials(This afternoon cut bond shocks of cane)                                     | 127 |
| Migrations(It was the moon of big winds In the night)                                 | 130 |
| Notes                                                                                     |     |
| Book One                                                                                         | 133 |
| Book Two                                                                                         | 134 |
| Book Three                                                                                       | 135 |
| Book Four                                                                                        | 136 |
| Book Five                                                                                        | 137 |
| Acknowledgements                                                                                 | 141 |