

Contents

Abbreviations / vii

Local History, Politics, and the State in El Salvador / 1
Aldo Lauria-Santiago and Leigh Binford

Section One: Linking the Local with the National—Prewar Salvadoran
History Reconsidered / 13

Land, Community, and Revolt in Late Nineteenth-Century
Indian Izalco / 17
Aldo Lauria-Santiago

The Formation of the Urban Middle Sectors in El Salvador, 1910–1944 / 39
Victor Hugo Acuña Ortega

Patronage and Politics under General Maximiliano Martínez, 1931–1939:
The Local Roots of Military Authoritarianism in El Salvador / 50
Erik Ching

Colonels and Industrial Workers in El Salvador, 1944–1972:
Seeking Societal Support through Gendered Labor Reforms / 71
Kati Griffith and Leslie Gates

The Formation of a Rural Community: Joya de Cerén, 1954–1995 / 85
Carlos Benjamín Lara Martínez

Section Two: Civil War and Its Aftermath: Local Politics and Community / 101

Peasants, Catechists, Revolutionaries: Organic Intellectuals in the Salvadoran Revolution, 1980–1992 / 105
Leigh Binford

vi Contents

Civil War and Reconstruction: The Repopulation of Tenancingo / 126
Elisabeth J. Wood

Between Clientelism and Radical Democracy: The Case of Ciudad Segundo Montes / 147
Vincent J. McElhinny

Not Revolutionary Enough? Community Rebuilding in Postwar Chalatenango / 166
Irina Carlota Silber

The Salvadoran Land Struggle in the 1990s: Cohesion, Commitment, and Corruption / 187
Lisa Kowalchuk

Section Three: Culture and Ideology in Contemporary El Salvador / 207

“This Is Not Culture!”: The Effects of Ethnodiscourse and Ethnopolitics in El Salvador / 211
Henrik Ronsbo

“El Capitán Cinchazo”: Blood and Meaning in Postwar San Salvador / 226
Ellen Moodie

In the Stream of Money: Contradictions of Migration, Remittances, and Development in El Salvador / 245
David Pedersen

Notes / 263

Bibliography / 307

Contributors / 317

Index / 319