

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments vii

Introduction 1

1. The Brooder's Startled Gaze: José Donoso, Broken Allegories, and the Commodity Form 13
2. Literature and Labor: Post-Fordism and Human Capital in Diamela Eltit and Arturo Fontaine 39
3. Restitution, Memory, and the Market: The Chilean Documentary 63
4. Critical Visuality or Global Subsumption? Neoliberal Biopolitics, Chilean Visual Arts, and the Economic Text 87
5. Reflections on a Residual Formation: Intellectual Work, Real Subsumption, and Socialized Labor 106

Notes 119

Bibliography 139

Index 151