

CONTENTS

Introduction	1
I. THE INDUSTRIAL FOUNDATION
1. The Interaction of Natural and Built Environments in the Pittsburgh Landscape	11
Edward K. Muller and Joel A. Tarr
2. Pittsburgh's Industrial Corridors	49
Edward K. Muller and Joel A. Tarr
3. Industrial Suburbs and the Growth of Metropolitan Pittsburgh, 1870–1920	65
Edward K. Muller
4. Pittsburgh's Three Rivers	88
From Industrial Infrastructure to Environmental Assets
Edward K. Muller and Joel A. Tarr with Timothy M. Collins
II. TRANSPORTATION AND THE RISE OF THE MODERN CITY
5. The Omnibus, Commuter Railroad, and Horsecar	115
Walking City to Networked City
Joel A. Tarr
6. The Cable and Electric Streetcar Networks	139
Joel A. Tarr
APPENDIX 6.1. Journey to Work, 1860–1910, for Bank Presidents
APPENDIX 6.2. Pittsburgh and Allegheny County Outlying Town Growth
7. The Automobile Comes to Pittsburgh, 1910–1935	155
Joel A. Tarr
APPENDIX 7.1. Impact of the Automobile on the Pittsburgh Economy
8. Skybus	176
Pittsburgh's Failed Industrial Targeting Strategy of the 1960s
Edward K. Muller with Morton Coleman and David Houston

III. ENERGY, THE ENVIRONMENT, AND THE MODERN CITY

9. Pittsburgh as an Energy Capital
Perspectives on Coal and Natural Gas Transitions and the Environment 213
Joel A. Tarr and Karen Clay
10. Boom and Bust in Pittsburgh Natural Gas History
Development, Policy, and Environmental Effects, 1878–1920 250
Joel A. Tarr and Karen Clay
- APPENDIX 10.1. Aspects of Natural Gas Production, 1880–1920
11. Searching for a Sink for an Industrial Waste
Iron-Making Fuels and the Environment 269
Joel A. Tarr
12. The Metabolism of the Industrial City
The Case of Pittsburgh 296
Joel A. Tarr

IV. PLANNING THE MODERN CITY

13. The Olmsteds in Pittsburgh
Landscaping the Private City 331
Edward K. Muller and John F. Bauman
- APPENDIX 13.1. Howard J. Heinz’s “Greenlawn”
- APPENDIX 13.2. W. L. Mellon’s “Ben Elm”
- APPENDIX 13.3. Elizabeth Thaw’s “As You Like It”
14. “In spite of the river’ ought to be a Pittsburgh town-slogan”
Riverfront Planning in Pittsburgh, 1900s–1970s 363
Edward K. Muller
15. Downtown Pittsburgh
Relentless Change 392
Edward K. Muller
16. Preserving Industrial Heritage Landscapes and Community Revitalization 444
Edward K. Muller
- List of Additional Works on Pittsburgh by Edward K. Muller
and Joel A. Tarr 473
- Index 479