

Contents

	Acknowledgments	vii
	Introduction	3
ONE	“Nearly All Possible and Impossible Things Under the Sun” EXHIBITING AUSTRALIAN SCIENCE AT HOME AND ABROAD	23
TWO	“Men Who Are an Ornament to Science” SCIENTISTS FROM NEW SOUTH WALES, VICTORIA, AND QUEENSLAND AT THE EXHIBITIONS	44
THREE	“From the Empire of Plants I Have Always Endeavoured” FERDINAND VON MUELLER AND THE EXHIBITIONS	65
FOUR	“Dwellers in the Desert Living in Tents” EXHIBITIONS AND OVERCOMING SCIENTIFIC DISTANCE, ISOLATION, AND WANDERING	87
FIVE	“The Physical, Social, and Moral Conditions of Man” SCIENTISTS, THE “SCIENCES OF MAN,” AND THE AUSTRALIAN ABORIGINAL PAST	106
	Conclusions THEORETICAL AND HISTORIOGRAPHIC REFLECTIONS ON NINETEENTH-CENTURY AUSTRALIAN SCIENCE AND EXHIBITIONS	132
	NOTES	143
	BIBLIOGRAPHY	181
	INDEX	191