

Contents

---

	Preface	vii
1	The Concept of Causality in Greek Thought Jürgen Mittelstrass	1
2	Moral Causes: The Role of Physical Explanation in Ancient Ethics Brad Inwood	14
3	Ancient Stoicism, “Robust Epistemology,” and Moral Philosophy Emidio Spinelli	37
4	Powerless Causes: The Case of Sacramental Causality Marilyn McCord Adams	47
5	From Scholasticism to Modern Physics — and Back? The Transformation of Traditional Causal Concepts in Descartes and Occasionalism Robert Schnepf	77
6	Kant on Transcendental Laws Eric Watkins	100
7	Freedom from Necessity: The Influence of J. S. Mill’s Politics on His Concept of Causation Laura J. Snyder	123

8	Mill on Causation and the Historical Turn in Philosophy of Science: Some Historical and Methodological Remarks Paolo Parrini	141
9	Sprachkritik and the Problem of Historical Understanding: Kant, Dilthey, Wittgenstein, and Weber Henry Krips	154
10	Plurality in Causality Raffaella Campaner and Maria Carla Galavotti	178
11	How to Be a Causal Pluralist Christopher Hitchcock	200
12	Do the Causal Principles of Modern Physics Contradict Causal Anti-Fundamentalism? John D. Norton	222
13	Epiphenomenalism: The Dos and the Don'ts Larry Shapiro and Elliott Sober	235
14	On Selection Of, For, With, and Against Peter McLaughlin	265
15	Causality in Economics Sir Clive W. J. Granger	284
16	The Core of Free Will Wolfgang Spohn	297
	Index	311