

CONTENTS

Foreword by Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn	vii
Preface	ix
Notes on the Translation	xi
Introduction	1
PART 1: THE HISTORY OF LIBERALISM, 1762–1855
Chapter 1: Catherine II	17
Chapter 2: Alexander I	31
Chapter 3: Speransky	38
Chapter 4: Karamzin	56
Chapter 5: The Codification of the Law	69
Chapter 6: Nicholas I	79
Chapter 7: Nicholas I (continued)	89
PART 2: THE DEVELOPMENT OF CIVIL LIBERTY, 1856–1914
Chapter 8: The Emancipation of the Serfs	107
Chapter 9: The Emancipation Laws and Their Later Interpretation	115
Chapter 10: Peasant Law	124
Chapter 11: The Peasant Question in the Reign of Alexander III	133
Chapter 12: The Peasant Question in the Reign of Nicholas II before 1905	143
Chapter 13: The Agrarian Program of the Left-Wing Parties	155
Chapter 14: The Peasant Question after 1905	164
Chapter 15: The Peasant Question after 1905 (continued)	175

PART 3: THE DEVELOPMENT OF POLITICAL LIBERTY, 1856–1914

- Chapter 16:* The History of Political Liberalism in the Reign of Alexander II 189
- Chapter 17:* The Period from 1881 to 1902 203
- Chapter 18:* The Liberation Movement 220
- Chapter 19:* Liberalism in 1904 227
- Chapter 20:* The Zemstvo Congresses 242
- Chapter 21:* Further Zemstvo Congresses and the Aggravation of the Revolutionary Situation 254
- Chapter 22:* The Manifesto of October 17, 1905, and the Constitution of April 23, 1906 269
- Chapter 23:* Witte and Public Opinion 283
- Chapter 24:* The Constitutional-Democratic Party and the Union of October 17 292
- Chapter 25:* The First Duma 300
- Chapter 26:* The Second Duma 311
- Chapter 27:* The Coup of June 3, 1907, and the Third and Fourth Dumas 321
- Notes* 331
- Index of Names* 371