

CONTENTS

Foreword ix

NIGEL ROTHFELS

Acknowledgments xiii

1. Introduction: Integrating the Animal 1

JANE COSTLOW AND AMY NELSON

Part I. Traditional Worlds and Everyday Life 17

2. Woman's Honor, or the Story with a Pig: The Animal in Everyday Life in the Eighteenth-century Russian Provinces 21

OLGA E. GLAGOLEVA

3. Treating the "Other Animals": Russian Ethnoveterinary Practices in the Context of Folk Medicine 42

MIKHAIL ALEKSEEVSKY

Part II. Contradictions of Imperial Russia 59

4. That Savage Gaze: The Contested Portrayal of Wolves in Nineteenth-century Russia 63

IAN M. HELFANT

5. "For the bear to come to your threshold": Human-Bear Encounters in Late Imperial Russian Writing 77

JANE COSTLOW

6. The Body of the Beast: Animal Protection and Anticruelty Legislation in Imperial Russia 95

AMY NELSON

Part III. Real and Symbolic Animals in the Soviet Project 113

7. Making Reindeer Soviet: The Appropriation of an Animal on the Kola Peninsula 117
ANDY BRUNO
8. The Animal Mayakovsky 138
KATHERINE LAHTI
9. A Legacy of Kindness: V. L. Durov's Revolutionary Approach to Animal Training 164
ANN KLEIMOLA
10. Of Men and Horses: Animal Imagery and the Construction of Russian Masculinities 178
ARJA ROSENHOLM

Part IV. Boundary Work: Late-Soviet and Post-Soviet "Humanimals" 195

11. Life of Ferret and the "Manimal" in Post-Soviet Literature 199
JOSÉ ALANIZ
 12. The Animal Watches You: Identity "After" History in Tatyana Tolstaya's The Slynx 219
DARIA KABANOVA
 13. The Human Dog Oleg Kulik: Grotesque Post-Soviet Animalistic Performances 234
GESINE DREWS-SYLLA
- Notes* 253
Contributors 305
Index 309