

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments vii

Introduction 3

AMY E. DAYTON

Chapter 1: Searching for Myrtilla Miner’s School for Colored Girls:
Afrafeminist Strivings, Ethical Representations, and Nineteenth-
Century Archives 15

REVA E. SIAS

Chapter 2: “For Their Day and for Our Own”: Navigating the Use of Diverse Sources in Feminist Rhetorical Analysis 36

SARA HILLIN

Chapter 3: Invitational Anger: Naming Forbidden Emotion in Native
American Women’s Autobiographical Writing of the Nineteenth Century 57

ELIZABETH LOWRY

Chapter 4: Historiographic Disappointment: Archival Listening and the Recovery of Politically Complex Figures 70

JESSICA ENOCH AND ELIZABETH ELLIS MILLER

Chapter 5: (Re)presenting Lila: The Ethics of Sharing Stories from a
1920s–Era Training School for Girls 89

LAURA ROGERS AND TOBI JACOBI

Chapter 6: Ethics and Access in Mental Health Archives	108
		CAITLIN BURNS
Chapter 7: Representation, Relationships and Research: Building a Living Archive through Feminist Inquiry	126
		JENNIE L. VAUGHN
Chapter 8: On Pins and Needles: Multi-Sited Ethnography and the Archives	142
		JANE GREER
Chapter 9: Contexts and Communities: Valuing Collectivity in Feminist Rhetorical Inquiry	160
		GRACEMARIE MIKE FILLENWARTH
Chapter 10: Stabilizing Stories: Personal Narrative and Public Memory in Recent Activist Histories	175
		KATHLEEN T. LEUSCHEN AND RISA APPEGARTH
Chapter 11: The Rhetorics of Translation: A Feminist Method for Inquiry, Recovery, and Theoretical Application	198
		CRISTINA D. RAMÍREZ
Chapter 12: Venues and Voices: Welcoming Greater Participation in Feminist Rhetorical History and Inquiry	218
		WENDY B. SHARER
List of Contributors	237
Index	241	