

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction: Painting the Picture of Black Federal Workers	3
1. “Boy! Look at All These Government Girls!”: Black Opportunity in the Nation’s Capital, 1941–1945	25
2. “Study Long, Study Wrong”: Achievements and Limits of Commissions Studying Discrimination in the Federal Workforce, 1945–1947	65
3. “This Is Not Working”: White Resistance to Black Persistence, 1948–1959	95
4. “Rats! Discriminated Again”: Julius Hobson and the Rising Civil Rights Movement, 1960–1969	116
5. “I Was Hurting”: Blacks In Government on the Mend, 1970–1981	144
Epilogue: A Moving Picture of Black Workers, 1980–1981	176
Notes	195
Bibliography	227
Index	241