

Contents

	Preface	xi
	Acknowledgments	xiii
	Introduction	3
1	In the Turbulence of Theory	25
2	The Changing Political Landscape of Composition Studies	48
3	The Linguistic Agent as Subject	80
4	Ideologies of the Self in Writing Evaluation	111
5	Coherent Contradictions: The Conflicting Rhetoric of Writing Textbooks	132
6	The Achieved Utopia of the Networked Classroom	163
7	Student Writers at the End of History?	200
8	The Ethical Subject	225
	Notes	243
	Sources	257
	Index	279