

List of Whewell's Published Works

LUKAS M. VERBURGT

The following list of Whewell's published works offers the most comprehensive one available to date. It is not exhaustive as it is limited to works published in Britain—with the exception of American editions that were not (“stereotyped”) reproductions of British editions—and does not include: unchanged reprints of books and papers; unpublished papers, lectures, sermons and poems; summary reports of Whewell's scientific research in transactions or proceedings of scientific bodies or learned societies unless known to have been written (in part) by Whewell himself; (privately) circulated and often anonymous letters, drafts, suggestions, remarks, and pamphlets concerning college and university matters (many of which are held in the University Archives, Cambridge University Library or Whewell's papers at Trinity College, Cambridge).

The main sources consulted in compiling the list and in tracing references are: A. T. Bartholomew, Catalogue of the Books and Papers for the Most Part Belonging to the University, Town, and County of Cambridge. Bequeathed to the University by John Willis Clark, M.A. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1912; Isaac Todhunter, William Whewell, D.D., Master of Trinity College, Cambridge. An Account of His Writings with Selections from His Literary and Scientific Correspondence. Vol. 1. London: Macmillan, 1876; Royal Society of London, Catalogue of Scientific Papers, 1800–1900. 19 vols. London, 1867–1925; College Catalogue (online), Trinity College, Cambridge. <https://lib-cat.trin.cam.ac.uk/>.

The list is ordered chronologically. Under a specific year, books are listed first, followed by other kinds of publications. The notes appearing on a separate line between square brackets—mostly drawn from Todhunter, Whewell, vol. 1—are principally aimed to elucidate the sometimes complex publication history of some of Whewell's works, such as his textbooks.
