

CONTENTS

PART I. IDEOLOGICAL AND SOCIAL PREREQUISITES OF PERSECUTION

1. A Brief History of Croatia	3
2. The Jews in Zagreb Prior to 1941	7
3. Anti-Semitism in the Thirties: The Horror Begins	14
4. The Jews in the Life of Zagreb and Yugoslavia before 1941: From Dire Premonitions to Their Realization	51
5. From Exclusive Croatianhood to Ustasha Anti-Semitism	86

PART II. SPRING AND SUMMER OF 1941: EXCOMMUNICATION

6. The Beginning of Persecution: Public Incitement, the First Murders, and Plunder	103
7. Legal Discrimination: The Third Reich as a Model	113
8. Wearing the Jewish Insignia	121
9. Requests to Not Wear the Insignia and Be Granted Aryan Rights	127
10. A Challenge to Living: Dismissal from All Services	136
11. The Administrative Machinery for Implementing Persecution	144
12. The Contribution	153
13. Plundering Jewish Property	161
14. Evicting Jews from Houses and Apartments	182
15. Salvation for a Group of Doctors	195
16. Other Forms of Persecution	202
17. The Work of the Jewish Religious Community in Zagreb	209

PART III. SUMMER AND AUTUMN OF 1941: CONCENTRATION AND EXTERMINATION

18. Mass Arrests and Transit Camps	223
19. Concentration Camps, Summary Courts, and Hostages	236
20. Death Camps on Mount Velebit and Pag Island: Genocide	245
21. The Apogee of Terror: Jasenovac	266
22. On the Way to Execution: Loborgrad and Đakovo	305
23. A New Kind of Correspondence: Requests for Release from Camps	317
24. Mixed Marriages and "Honorary Aryans"	325
25. Care for the Internees and for the Survival of the Jewish Religious Community	330

PART IV. MOVING TOWARD FINAL ANNIHILATION, 1942-1943

26. In the New Year: A New Wave of Persecution	349
27. Deportations in August 1942	362
28. Saving the Children, Hiding in Hospitals	371
29. The Agony on the Eve of the Last Deportation	379
30. Final Annihilation: The Deportations of May 1943	392

PART V. TRYING TO SURVIVE

31. Converting to Catholicism	405
32. To Stay Put or Escape?	417
33. Escape	425
34. Joining the Partisans: A Way to Save One's Life and Maintain Human Dignity	442

PART VI. EPILOGUE

35. The Languishing of the Remaining Jews	457
36. The Old People's Home:
From Maksimirska Road to Brezovica	475
37. The Catholic Church, Archbishop Stepinac, and the Jews	481
38. Who Is Responsible?	503
39. Revisionism in Croatia:
The Case of Franjo Tuđman	520
40. Jews in the Ustasha State Administration	544
41. The Ustashe, the Croats, and the Jews	551
42. On the Number of Jewish Victims in Zagreb and Croatia	561
43. A New Beginning?	574
Notes	581
Bibliography	691
Index	719